1. Executive Summary

Delhi witnessed one of the most dreadful communal violence in the last week of February leading to loss of 47 lives, extreme damage to properties and several hundred severely injured. The main objective of this joint rapid needs assessment (JRNA) is to assess immediate humanitarian needs emerging in the violence hit area of North East Delhi and make recommendations for immediate and midterm response for various social sector services.

The transect walk with field observations and interaction with affected men and women of riot hit areas covered methodologies as:

- Telephonic interviews with people who have experienced the problem during the violence.
- Direct visual observation of living conditions, accessibility to affected areas, children spaces, markets, people’ activities and their immediate concerns.
- Key Informant Interviews
- Household Interviews
- Photographic analysis: Pictures were collected from volunteers and other partner team members and analysed to identify the current community issues.
- Secondary data analysis – media, local partners and other sources

Some of key observation are listed below:

- The violence has impacted water and sanitation facilities in some areas. The number of toilets in makeshift camps at night shelters are not adequate as only two semi functional toilets are covering over hundred who have taken shelter there. The nature of WASH facilities varies in slum and non-slum areas. The crowding and impact on sanitation amid rising threat of corona virus is a key concern in this complex humanitarian situation.
- Shiv Vihar, DPR Convent Public School faced the maximum damage among the four which were targeted during the violence. The Rajdhani Public School, Victoria public and Modern Public school were also damaged in the riots. Rooms on the ground floor were torched, books strewn on the floor and outside, along with shards of glass everywhere. The four schools which have been shut down indefinitely, impacts over 3300 students approx.
- Approximately 600 injured people came to the hospital and these hospitals do not have enough capacity to accommodate patients in such a high number. People in Al Hind hospital have been seen lying on floors and vulnerable to acquire hospital infections,
- Livelihood of the people are badly affected in the area. Approx. 40% of street vendors, petty businesses, home based workers, daily wage workers have gone unemployed. Daily wagers are worst affected as there has been no work for more than 10 days and hence no income impacting food security.
- Elderly and women have been among most vulnerable given the mobility issues resulting in the inability to escape when properties were being set on fire. There are reports of gender-based violence, assaults on women and young girls, and situation of house arrest. There are reports of looting including Jewelry and other belongings of women.

- Huge damage to houses of local residents has been done through stone pelting and fire. At some areas boundary walls of religious places were also damaged. A large amount of residents have left their home and shifted to their friends and relatives so as to be safe, It is estimated that around 250 houses are completely damaged due to burning.

Sector wise key recommendations include:

- There are reports of children having been injured; gone missing or separated from their families. It requires coordination and follow up with NCPCR/ DCPCR to assess the situation of children affected by violence; their location; instances of abuse and trafficking; casualties. The CHILDLINE needs to get activated with presence in the affected locations.
- Hygiene kit distribution with menstrual hygiene management provision, undergarments and drinking water treatment materials as per minimum standards are required. Separate and sufficient toilets for women in night shelters or makeshift camps needed immediate prioritisation.
- Immediate temporary education centers equipped with proper teaching and learning materials and trained volunteers to orient and provide psyche-social support needs to be established specially for the children having their schools building shuts indefinitely.
- 24*7 hour ambulance services for the victims and vulnerable patients. Awareness, regarding prevention of communicable diseases and access to local clinics need to ensured.
- An in depth assessment of the livelihood and food security sector with interventions of cooked food for immediate food security, cash for work, microfinance, capital support for initiating livelihoods linkages with banks, interest free loans to ensure quick recovery and long term food security.
- Rehabilitation support and program for those who have lost their shelters, shops and other assets is recommended.
- A thorough assessment is needed in collaboration with Delhi police and DCW to look into sexual crime cases against women and casualties incurred by elderly in the riot hit areas.
2. Background

North East part of Delhi, the capital of India saw communal violence in last week of February 2020. The situation spiraled out of control on 25 Feb as the violence spread to an even wider area on either side of the Jaffrabad main road. Maujpur, Chand Bagh, Kardampuri, Bhajanpura, Gokalpuri, Khajuri Khas, Yamuna Vihar and Brijpuri neighbourhood were engulfed in the conflagration. The violence subsided in few days but the consequences of violence are very disheartening. 47 people have been reported dead and hundreds severely injured. AI Hind Hospital has reportedly attended to over 600 people with injuries including OPD patients, and over 250 people were admitted to GTB hospital with severe injuries. LNJP hospital has also confirmed admission of over 15 cases of injured people. Many injured people have migrated or not reported to hospitals due to fear.

Homes have been burned and belongings and assets looted, mosques and shops set ablaze. Incidents of violence against women and girls and elderly have also been reported. The Central Board of Secondary Education has rescheduled the Class 10 and 12 Board examinations in view of the current situation. The Delhi government has announced various compensation packages for the violence affected people and to families of those who have died due to the violence, and steps for their relief and rehabilitation in the violence affected areas.

Nearly 7,000 paramilitary forces have been deployed in the affected areas of the northeast district since Monday to maintain calm. Section 144 of CrPC was imposed on affected areas of North East Delhi. The High Court has demanded investigation in the case against the alleged perpetrators including those who incited violence with hate speech. Two Special Investigation Teams (SIT) have been formed to probe the violence, and so far, 630 people have been arrested and 123 FIRs lodged. The Delhi Commission for Women (DCW) has asked Delhi Police to submit a report on the sexual crime cases reported during or after the riots in the affected areas by March 4 to monitor any cases of murder and abuse, after the visit to riot hit areas. The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) on 1st of March, asked a report from Delhi Police of the "human rights violations" in the Delhi violence, after the fact-finding team visited the violence-hit areas and met affected people and the families of those who lost lives in the violence.

At the heart of the unrest is a citizenship law which is seen to be biased against the Indian Muslims. While the pro CAA rallies and anti-protests have been on for several months now, the protests got transformed into intense rioting between the pro and anti CAA groups in predominantly Muslim ghettos of North East district of Delhi. As per 2011 census, North East Delhi had a population of 2,241,624 of which male and female were 1,188,425 and 1,053,199 respectively. Hindus comprise 68.22 % and Muslims 29.34 % of this population. The population has risen by 27% since then.

Food, health support, shelter, sanitation, clothing, psychological support, drinking water, temporary facilities for learning for children, psychological support were identified as immediate needs. Housing repair, repair and reopening of schools, livelihood support, and health facilities are needed for early recovery by all respondents.

Conclusions and Recommendations:

Primary information pertaining to protection issues is limited due to restrictions in access and other considerations. However, secondary information supplemented by limited primary info established the need for in-depth assessments of protection issues. Following are the key conclusions and recommendations.

1. The scenario reveals and alludes to children having been injured; gone missing; and their families missing. This requires coordination and follow up with NCPCR/DCPCR to assess the situation of children affected by violence; their location; instances of abuse and trafficking; casualties. The CHILDLINE needs to get activated with presence in the affected and vulnerable locations.

2. Possibility of abuse of women cannot be ruled out and needs probing and follow-up with DCW, including counselling support besides other material needs.

3. The elderly, and as per evidence, women have been most vulnerable given the mobility issues resulting in the inability to escape when properties were being set on fire. A thorough assessment is needed to see the casualty among elderly and situation of those that have survived the violence, and their specific needs.
4. People have lost their livelihood and the very source of livelihood, and this will affect their long-term food security and recovery process. It needs to be known if any victim had taken loans or credit from private or public institutions /lenders to recommend appropriate action, waivers from authorities till the family can pay them off.

5. Longer term support is needed ensuring safe spaces for children, women, and elderly beyond immediate food and water provisions to generate security among the affected.

6. Need for immediate psychosocial aid as the children especially young girls are traumatized by what has happened to them and their friends and relatives

7. Need for temporary learning cum recreation facilities/centers cum safe spaces for women, adolescents and children

8. Need to balance their diet/nutrition as at present they are only taking chapati with milk

9. Restoration of schools/education system and need to advocate for those children who are not being able to attend their board exams due to lack of documents

10. Activating ICPS structures, outreach and helpline such as Childline services, identifying specific CNCP cases including children who were in street situations, analysis of their whereabouts/status, referrals and linkages with structures such as DCPCR, DCPU, CWC etc.

5.2 SHELTER

Delhi accounts for around 0.05% of India’s geographical area and 1.39% of its population. Ownership of houses is very high in Delhi with about 68% of households having their own houses. As per 2011 census in North-East 75.3% households’ own shelters and 23.3% lived on rental basis and 1.4 in other households. The area has 2220097 urban population, 21527 rural population and also ranked first in terms of population density of 36155 persons per Sq. Km with a sex ratio of 886. North East Delhi is flanked by the Yamuna River on the west, East Delhi to the south, North Delhi to the west. The district of Gaziabad in Uttar Pradesh stretches from north to the east.

Impact of Violence

Interior of the district has faced huge losses in terms of full and partial damage to structures which includes houses, schools, religious monuments, petrol pump, shops and other education institutes.
- Huge damage to houses of local residents has been done through stone pelting and fire.
- At some areas boundary walls of religious places were also damaged.
- A large amount of residents have left their home and shifted to their friends and relatives so as to be safe.
- It is estimated that around 250 houses are completely damaged due to burning.
- Market burned at Gokulpuri, Khajuri Khas (1 shop burnt) and 95% of houses have windows broken and patrolled by local residents in other locations like Usmanpur and Shastri Park.
- Windows of schools have also been broken. Many toilets have also been damaged.
- In some of the areas there is no electricity and no adequate water supply.
- Shortage of food supplies has led to hike in prices of products being sold at fewer local shops.
- Slum area of the district is adversely affected and most of them are completely damaged.
- Some public toilets are said to be working and open.
- Areas other than the directly affected localities have not reported any damage to structures or buildings.
- As per the respondents who are displaced and taking shelter in camps and relatives homes, 86% of shelters in their areas are inhabitable and all are unsafe due to the current situation.
• Basic household items have been lost as everything got burnt with the house.

• Many of the respondents shared that they were planning marriage next month and their jewellery along with other items also got burnt.

Recommendation: Rehabilitation support and program for those who have lost their shelters, shops and other assets is recommended.

5.3 WATER SANITATION AND HYGIENE (WASH)

In Delhi, 53.4% HH (Households), living in slum areas have access to improved sources of drinking water. On the other hand, 99.3% of HH living in Non-Slums have improved the source of drinking water. 24% of total HH in slums have improved facilities for toilets and members of one out of six goes in open for defecation. While the HH living on Non-Slums have improved sanitation facilities. Delhi is the city with the highest municipality waste (9,500 tonnes) every day. Only 1000 tonnes of municipality waste are treated every day while the rest are dumped at landfilling sites. In Slum, the condition of water supply and sanitation is very poor because of many challenges.

Impact of Conflict:
The situation right now is still grim and people don’t want to talk about the incident because of trauma. But after managing some interaction with affected people few facts came into light which are mentioned below:
The displacement of a big population occurred with a major number of females, children and elders to unknown places where there is high risk of communicable disease outbreak as maintaining hygiene in such settlement is extremely difficult.

- There will likely be damage/broken water collecting points at household level or community level.
- Sanitation facility was also reported as demolished along with houses.
- The HH level drinking water sources like summer sevil pumps have been mammocked (According to female interaction in Anand Vihar)
- The toilets have been broken and burnt from outside.
- It is also reported through individual interaction with the affected population that the people who have taken shelters in Mosque, Madarsa, Gurudwaras and some houses do not have proper access to drinking water and toilet facility.

Some Facts:

- 2 toilets are being used by around 40 families in Shivpuri camp
- The number of toilets are less than the actual need
- Drinking water tanker reached to the affected slum areas after three days
- The adequate amount of drinking water is not available
- Directly affected areas are suffering more without WASH facility

Recommendations:

Suggested Interventions:

- Hygiene kit distribution with menstrual hygiene management provision, Undergarments and drinking water treatment material according to the govt. guidelines is required.
- Rapid cleaning drives in the affected areas
- Access to potable drinking water and sanitation facility. Repair of submersible pumps. Mobile toilets to be set up in nearby camp areas.
- Distribution of blankets and bedsheets for the displaced people.
- Distribution of utensils as people have lost all their personal as well as HH belongings
5.4 EDUCATION

Key Findings

School education is affected in violence hit districts of Delhi. School children, teachers, administration, infrastructure & material has faced a lot of damages. This loss is not just limited to the loss of school days but the annual examinations were also postponed causing a lot of stress and mental trauma among school going children.

ShivVihar’s DPR Convent Public School faced the maximum damage among the four which were targeted during the violence. The Rajdhani Public School, next to DRP, Victoria public and Modern Public school were also damaged in the riots. Rooms on the ground floor were torched, books strewn on the floor and outside, along with shards of glass everywhere. The four schools which have been shut down indefinitely, impacts 3300 students approx.

- Schools were found closed throughout the day in Khajuri and other affected areas like usmanpur, seelampur etc.
- 29 AWC in Khaujri have not been into operation since the violence erupted in the area as per an Anganwadi helper.
- No prominent NGO was seen proving any support for education in emergencies on ground.

Considering the current uneasiness in the region the Delhi government has postponed annual school examinations up to March 7 in violence-hit northeast Delhi. All schools in the riot-affected areas of the capital will remain closed till March 7, the Directorate of Education Examination cell announced on Saturday[i]. Indirectly impacting the lives of approx. 234 schools in North – East Delhi.

Apart from damaging the school’s infrastructures, materials these violence have pushed children into a mental trauma and fear. Shavian wanted to pay the fees of the school, her admit card got burned to ashes. She is a class 10th student. “I don’t know how I will give my exams,” she said.
Mohd Ashiq Saifi, also a student of the same school, recalls how he was caught amidst the crossfire. "I was coming back from school after giving my exam on February 24 when I was hit by a stone. Some people helped me reach safely", he recalled his ordeal.

“There is so much violence around. I can’t study at all. Shaina Saifi” is a class 10 student too. “My next exam is Hindi, but I can’t concentrate at all. Everything looks very bleak and uncertain I can’t sleep at night”, she said, adding that she fears for her life.

Recommendations
- An immediate temporary education center equipped with proper teaching learning material and trained volunteers to orient and provide psyche-social support to the teachers/students’ needs to be established specially for the children having their schools building shuts indefinitely. (Could be established within the vicinity of DPR, Rajdhani and Modern public schools)
- Students have faced losses in terms of learning materials such as text books, stationary, school bags, uniforms hence there is an urgent need to provide education kits to these children.
- Since most of the windows sheets (houses and schools) in affected areas were broken needs to be immediately replaced with the new ones. Preventing any further injury to the children within or beside the premises.
- The pieces of stones and burnt walls were also seen during the visit to affected area which needs to be take care off immediately
- There should be an immediate advocacy with the government department regarding providing support to the repairing/retrofitting of damaged schools buildings.
- Training of teachers and schools administration of affected schools should be undertaken to support them providing pyscho-social support to the traumatized children.
- A helpdesk facilitating the re-issuance of Children certificates that they must have lost during the riots/violence must be established.

5.5 HEALTH

During the riots, doctors could not reach the affected areas to provide emergency care since police the communication routes were blocked even ambulances could not move. Several victims and their families had faced a tough time accessing medical care and had to wait for prolonged time. For instance, a 14 year old boy with a bullet injury in Kardam Puri had to wait more than six hours for an ambulance. Many girls and children in relief centres were crying narrating their incidents. They witnessed burning, acid attacks, cylinder burst, beating and verbal abuse.
Children below 6 years were crying as the rooms were very dark and they were not allowed to step outside.

Health practitioners, health workers and other concerned citizens are deeply troubled by the violence that is being reported from different parts of Delhi. In such a situation, access to health care, including emergency medical treatment to treat injuries and to save human lives is critical.

15-16 people were admitted to Lok Nayak Jay Prakash (LNJP) hospital out of which 2 were in ICU and rest in emergency ward.

Key findings

- 47 human lives has been lost and reported and number of people injured are approx 900 including OPD patients. There are a total of 37 government health facilities in Delhi and nurses and doctors are ready for emergency management of the casualties.
- AI Hind hospital has 9 doctors ready to take care of the victims and almost 50-60 families are living in the relief camp which is being run by the hospital.
- As per the Government sources, special doctors from NIMHANS are being provided for psychological support of the family who lost their lives.
- Victims had several kinds of injuries, including wounds from gunshots; many sustained trauma from jumping from rooftops to escape violence; and many received head injuries.

Impact of Violence

- Violence and riots are directly proportional to an increase in casualties, loss of lives and cause both physical and mental trauma and even permanent disabilities.
- Trauma can have a serious psychological effect on the primary survivor. A person who has undergone oppression directly, or has witnessed violence, mostly holds memory and flashback of it. These intrusive symptoms can affect their overall social perception, mood, personality and interpersonal relations.
- Hospital do not have enough capacity to accommodate patients at such a high number. People in AI Hind hospital have got place to stay and are being provided by food. They have also been seen lying in floors. In such scenarios people are most likely to acquire hospital acquired infection.
- Children have to sleep on floors and are kept in a crowded room, lacking proper clothing and blankets. They are not immune to cold and flu as children are the most vulnerable group to be affected with infection.
- Lack of manpower for a large mass of people is leading to compromise quality care. Such exposure is more likely to induce anxiety as at times, people may feel helpless and out-of-control about certain situations. Panic attacks are also probable in those already having anxiety issues.

Recommendations

- Emergency and critical management wards with sufficient nurses and doctors should be ready for giving emergency care to the casualties.
- Measure to control more loss of lives and prevent permanent disabilities.
- 24*7 hour ambulance services for the victims
- Reduce risk of mental trauma to the first hand witnessed of the violence
- Enough medicines for flu, cold, fever must be made available at the doorstep.
- There must not be any compromise on maternal health care. All pregnant ladies should get fast emergency medical care.
- Psychosocial support to the family and children of the family who lost their lives
- Affected families should be advised to keep in regular touch with those around whom they feel safe and secure, alongside basic relaxation techniques that are helpful in calming oneself.

5.6 FOOD AND NUTRITION SECURITY

A large number of families have fled their homes in these areas as many homes were burnt completely. In Usmanpur area, many people are taking meals only twice a day, while the frequency has further reduced in Karawal Nagar and Chand Bagh areas. Many of the respondents taking shelter in the homes of relatives and friends had not received any assistance from Govt. or NGOs, but they had received assistance from community members and relatives.

The prices of daily needs items witnessed a sudden rise due to the interrupted supply and non-opening of shops in the affected area due to violence.
Key Findings

- The government has also established relief judges to oversee the relief measures.
- For relief camps, the Delhi Urban Shelter Improvement Board (DSUIB) collaborated with NGOs like Sadik Masih Medical Social Servant Society, Society for Promotion Of Youth And Masses (SPYM) to provide food. The Centre for Advocacy and Research (CFAR) has announced that they will provide clothes and other amenities.
- The government is providing food and water to the affected population. The affected people are coming to the relief camps for eating food and many are going back to madrassas for safe shelter. However many rain baseras also being used as safe shelters by a few, there is no arrangement for food.
- Food is being distributed by many people in the affected areas like Gurudwaras, some businessman, charity organizations, NGOs in some community places and community halls.
- The shops are slowly being opened, but the prices of essential items have risen in the areas as there is very short supply of vegetables, milk etc.
- Delhi Waqf Board has also set up shelter home and are distributing ration, milk and biscuits to the affected families.
- Langar’s and community kitchens have been set up by charity organizations, Gurudwaras and businessman in the affected areas.
• The situation of food security is not very bad as many organizations, Gurudwaras, charities have come up and are providing cooked food as well as ration to the affected families but the issue of nutrition is still there as most of the food constitutes dal- rice or dal-chappati.

• The situation with respect to long term rehabilitation is grim as most of the affected people are daily wagers, rickshaw pullers and from poor families who will be requiring longer support through free rations for a longer duration.

LIVELIHOODS

The affected area of North East district is very congested and most of the people are engaged in non-formal occupations. Most of the households are engaged in selling vegetables, rickshaw pulling and e-rickshaw/auto driving, petty business, home based work on contract basis and manual labour.

Key Findings

• Estimated Affected population: Men:- 60%, Women:- 40%, Children 20%
• Households migrated:- 300-400 in Gokulpuri region
• Tyre market in Gokulpuri region was completely burnt down.
• Vendors’ carts burnt in Khajuri khas, karawal nagar, and Bhajanpura.Home-based workers in Pucci Khajuri, Sri ram nagar not gone out for work.
• Shops are slowly being opened by those who are not affected.

Among the families in dire need of ration, are those whose houses were damaged or burnt down. Rubina, a resident of Maujpur, whose home was damaged, said: “The adults can survive hunger but children need food. My husband is a daily wage labourer and there is no work at the moment. We got a packet of milk from someone, a banana from another...”
